FC Hajduk win HFA sem-final on pens

Matt Cleere was the man of the moment when FC Hajduk emerged 3-1 winners on penalties against The Meon in a hard fought HAMPSHIRE SUNDAY TROPHY semi final at Fawcetts Field. With the game deadlocked at 0-0 after 90 minutes, a penalty shootout was needed to separate the teams and the Hajduk 'keeper broke Meon's hearts by saving two of their four spot kicks. The City of Portsmouth Sunday League side brought two coach loads of supporters with them and they were making themselves heard as the game began at a cracking pace. Hajduk were doing most of the attacking but it was the visitors who would have taken the lead midway through the first half if Howard Nhemachena had not got back to make a vital clearance off the line. The exchanges were fast and furious and tempers frayed five minutes before the interval when a Meon defender saw red for retaliating to a challenge from Jack Myers which resulted in a yellow card for Hajduk player. Neither side were able to break down two resolute defences in the second half although Adam Baxter went close after capitalising on a slip by The Meon goalkeeper. Already through to the M.A. Hart In-Excess Cup final and the M.A. Hart Robbins Cup final, FC Hajduk now have a trip to Basingstoke to look forward to in May.
